

A Letter from the Community

Dear Friends,

The history of communities working together to support one another can be traced back to the beginning of civilization. These communities have always played a vital and dynamic role in the desire to create a better world. Their very survival depended upon a deeply cooperative system of living and working together around common lands, shared food and labor. Economic cooperation has been the means by which these communities have managed to survive and thrive.

As these communities became inspired by the dream of self-sufficiency, growing beyond the clan, the village and the city, these ideas seemed to fade and a new independent, self-reliant culture developed. We began to think of ourselves as individual and separate.

But the fact remains that we are all connected, and what we all do impacts the world as a whole. When one of us does well, it spreads to the whole of humanity. Conversely, events such as the economic meltdown of 2008 remind us that no one is safe from the downside repercussions.

The importance of supporting one another in community is not something new, it has allowed us to create amazing things, develop transformative technology, and build incredible cities. We have continued to support one another locally via “tandas,” “susus,” “ROSCAs” and “cundinas,” or with the advent of micro loans, micro finance and crowd sourcing.

GlobeOne is taking these ideas to the next level – a new paradigm – a truly inclusive, accessible, and secure global network. We see a connected world where we are all committed to our local community; we each participate and share in the global financial community, and we can all thrive together as one.

This book represents how we want to be seen in the world. It represents not only our look and feel, but also the attitude we bring as we step forward into the global community. GlobeOne is more than a brand; we are a way of life.

We are GlobeOne. Powered by the Global Community.

In Trust,

Our Vision

Our vision is really about something bigger than our company or our product, it comes from a basic belief that every single human being has a natural-born right to control his or her own financial future.

together

History has shown that ordinary people have the power to do extraordinary things when we come together.

At GlobeOne, we believe taking control of your financial future isn't something you have to do alone.

Together, with our friends, family and the entire
global community,
there is no limit to what we can do.

Who we are

Connected

We bring the world together and empower the Global community to thrive.

Committed

We are transforming inequality by giving back control of our financial future.

Engaged

We harness the power of technology to build solutions together.

Empowered

We inspire the human spirit to make changes never before imagined.

Our Inspiration

We are inspired by great people and great communities. We are inspired by acts of kindness, and thinking of 'we', not just 'me'. We see the possibility for a better world and know as a community we can all make that happen.

Our Community

Ordinary people coming together to form the world's first truly global financial community.

Transforming global financial inequality by creating a supportive community that gives everyone, everywhere in the world, access to the tools and resources to take control of their financial future.

"In a gentle way we can all shake the world together"
